Come Hear ...

Camilo Mejia

“Behind these bars I sit a free man because I listened to a higher power, the voice of my conscience.” -- Camilo Mejia

On May 21, 2004, 28-year-old Sgt. Camilo Mejia was sentenced to one year in prison for refusing to return to fight in Iraq. Camilo spent six months in combat in Iraq, then returned for a 2-week furlough to the US. During that time he reflected on what he had seen, including the abuse of prisoners and the killing of civilians.

He concluded that the war was illegal and immoral, and decided that he would not return. In March, 2004 he turned himself in to the US military and filed an application for conscientious objector status.
